

THE JOURNAL RECORD

Thursday, April 3, 2014

journalrecord.com

Vol. 119, No. 66 • Two Sections

State verdict ranked among highest for year

Trae Gray

ADA – The National Law Journal ranked a jury verdict on behalf of three Mill Creek, Okla., families among the Top 100 Verdicts for 2013.

The $73 million Mill Creek verdict, which was awarded for damages caused by a 10 million gallon sewage spill into the creeks and streams of the Mill Creek families, was ranked as the 23rd-largest verdict of the year and the second-largest environmental law verdict.

The listing includes Trae Gray, Coal County attorney and LandownerFirm.com founder, and his co-counsel, Jason Aamodt of the Environmental Law Center in Tulsa.

Gray said attorneys Ryan Ellis of LandownerFirm.com and Krystina Phillips and Dallas Strimple of the Environmental Law Center were members of the combined legal team.

LandownerFirm.com, founded in 2006, focuses on natural resource law.

Gray was also recognized by Oklahoma Magazine as a member in the statewide “40 Under 40” class of 2014.

– Staff report